●Goals of the Course Studium Generale offers exposure to various academic topics presented in an accessible way. It provides an opportunity to explore topics outside one's major or research field. ●Objectives of the Course Students will increase their understanding and appreciation of a wide range of scientific fields, as well as business, careers and arts topics. Students will have an opportunity to engage in discussions and cross-cultural communication with participants from other majors and countries. Students develop these competencies while using English language. ●Course Content or Plan Course format: 1. Discussions sessions 2. Lectures by invited speakers 3. Team project (poster presentation) 4. Final discussion Each lecture is different, given by invited speakers from Nagoya University or elsewhere. Variety of topics: social sciences, natural sciences, arts, business, career, etc. Topics for each semester to be announced on the course NUCT and Canvas website. NOTE: The course content is provided as recorded, on-demand lectures. Classes are conducted online. Class time is used for discussions on the lecture content. If the epidemic situation permits, the team projects will be conducted on campus, in person. ●Course Prerequisites and Related Courses No prerequisites - anyone is welcome! Related courses: Studium Generale I ●Course Evaluation Method and Criteria Course grade is based on (1) class attendance, (2) written reports and (3) team project. Short written reports are submitted at the end of every class. Absent grade: submit Withdrawal Form, at any time. ●Study Load(Self-directed Learning Outside Course Hours) Lectures are recorded and available on-demand, students are expected to watch the lecture video before attending class to discuss the content. Assignments (reports) completion will require lecture review and may involve small independent online research. ●How to Respond to Questions Contact course manager by e-mail
