Under the project of NUEMI, we organized our regular Graduate School Seminar on the 10th of December, 2022. This semester, we took initiative and invited Nagoya University professors to present their tips on different stages of a graduate school application, namely, the preliminary stage which involves choosing the university and the program, the preparatory stage which involves asking for recommendation letters from professors, writing research proposals and statement of purpose and the final stage of proofreading and cohering all materials.

Moreover, our beloved senior students also shared their graduate application journeys with us. As a member of the organizing team, I learned a lot through this experience and am hoping that our event will reach more students in our future events.

HIGH SCHOOL VOLUNTEER EVENT

As you might know, there are many intercultural exchange programs conducted at Japanese high schools. The main purpose of these programs is to have an international exchange between Japanese Junior high school students and international students residing in Japan. Through these empowerment programs, international students nurture enterprising Japanese high schoolers to develop a global mindset.

Definitely, these volunteer programs create an open space where both groups of students can interact and learn from each other by sharing their individual stories, languages, lifestyles, and customs. Last November, I was fortunate enough to join a program at Takahama Junior High school in Fukui, met 50+ Japanese High Schoolers, and had tons of fun at Obama bay. Japanese volunteers are also welcome!
