

The primary purpose of this course is to help students build a logical framework for comprehending fundamental organic chemistry. Students can indicate each mechanism of intermolecular or intramolecular organic reactions for aliphatic molecules and to solve problems of progressive reaction mechanisms based on the knowledge grasped from the course contents.

